

OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

With all courtesy and good feeling for our Frisco subscribers, some of whom are our best friends and will remain with us through thick and thin, and whose friendship and patronage we fully appreciate, nevertheless even these good people are liable to come under evil influences, and quit the paper to gratify others.

There is an erroneous impression that the Frisco subscription list and patronage is much larger than it really is, when the fact is, it is confined almost exclusively to the better and more permanent element, and is very small.

Some have thought that by withdrawing the Frisco subscribers from our list we would suffer an irreparable loss, when the fact is it would not reduce our mailing weight one pound.

The actual cold fact is, we have never had but 11 Frisco subscribers on our books, and two of them stopped some time ago, and this week we received notice to stop two more, which still leaves us 7 Frisco subscribers. Now, if you want to know just how much we miss a subscriber, put your finger in a pail of water and take it out again and see how much water you miss. Besides, new subscribers coming in far outbalance the old ones dropping out, and a newspaper never knows the difference.

We just wanted to tell you the facts about this matter, that you may see for yourself. Now, the thing to do, if you want the paper, take it, regardless of what somebody else says or thinks. If you don't want it, stop it. It will go on just the same and no one will ever know the difference. You have a perfect right to do as you please.

OTHER SUBSCRIBERS.

Scattered throughout these columns every week are the names of new subscribers and renewals, and that you may properly comprehend their magnitude, we bunch them all together this week. Here they are:

Ed Lambs is a new Herald subscriber.

Dixie Reed has placed his name upon the Herald's honor roll.

Mrs. Artie Hayes has continued the Herald to her address.

Miss Letitia McFarland has our thanks for the renewal of her subscription.

Rev. Allen D. Rankin has enrolled his name among our readers.

Chas Reed was in town Friday, and now his name is upon our honor roll.

Mrs. F. M. Gwin has ordered the Herald sent to Mrs. L. E. Jones, at Heber Springs, Ark.

J. W. Stephens of Caruthersville sends the Herald another dollar.

Barnie Stockman, one of our hustling and enterprising bathers and all-around good fellows, is a renewal subscriber.

Mrs. B. M. Ransburgh has ordered the Herald sent to her sister, Mrs. Maggie Hubbard, Marston.

Mrs. D. Smitherman and daughter paid this office a pleasant call Saturday, and besides renewing her own subscription, ordered the Herald sent to her son, Ernest, at Chillicothe, where he is studying telegraphy. He expects to finish in about two months, when he will branch out from the old home and make his way in the world. The Smith-

The Dorris & Dorris electric theatre was shut down a few nights last week, on account of work being done on the engine. They resumed Monday night, however, with a three nights' engagement by the Woods Stock Co.

Mrs. May R. Kimbel of Mt. Carmel, Ill., who has been visiting her brother, P. S. Ravenstein and family for several days, will leave for home Wednesday of this week, by way of St. Louis, where she will stop for a short visit.

J. R. Heard of Dallas, Texas, sends $1.00 for the renewal of his subscription for another year. This is the old home of Mr. Heard, and of course he cannot do without the Herald. In concluding his letter, he says: "Hurrah for Bill York! Give them a—, Bill." So it extends near and far, and they are all with the Herald.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

A. B. Cortright, the electrician in charge of the electric light plant, informs us that there is no question but what the engine being installed will be amply able to supply Hayti for several years and that the reason it was removed from Marston to this place was that it was too large for that place. He said it was a 45-horse engine and that the engine put in to take its place is a 25-horse oil engine. It will be seen, therefore, that the Hayti engine, besides being a steam engine, possesses 20-horse more power than the Marston engine, which is operated by oil. He said the Hayti engine was too expensive to operate in a town of Marston's size, hence the change. He also assured us that when the current is turned on the people will be more than pleased with the service. Mr. Cortright further informed us that the completion of the plant was being pushed with all possible speed and that he hoped to have it in operation in a few days, and probably soon after Nov. 1, that a few days ago he did expect to turn the current on the night of Nov. 1, but on account of the recent bad weather there had been some delay. We can now expect to see lights in Hayti in a few days, probably some time next week, when our dreams of years will be realized.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and especially to Mrs. H. H. Thompson and Mrs. Spradlin for their kindness and devotion during the illness and death of our beloved daughter and sister, Beulah, who died October 23. We cannot see each one personally to express the earnest gratitude of our hearts for their kindly remembrance in this, our greatest hour of bereavement, but we hope to meet each one, when this life's labor is ended, where there will be no sorrow, no sickness, no death and no separation.

Most sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Greenwell.
Leo A. Greenwell.

L. L. Fegely died at his home in Terre Haute, Ind., Tuesday at 11:50 p. m., and was buried Friday, the funeral being conducted at the North Christian church. He was the father of Mrs. W. H. Finch of this city and Mrs. Rev. J. B. Lyle of Caledonia. Mr. Fegely and family at one time lived in this city and were among our most respected citizens.

Considering all we have done for Hayti, and the manner in which we have lately been treated by those we have done most for, the greatest consolation we have is that we will be here to witness their repentance—both Gentile and Jew, and to publish the sweetest obituaries in memory of those who hated us most.

Cal Chism happened to a painful accident last week, while working on a pulley at the Modern Gin. In some way, his head was thrown against the pulley, and his ear severely cut.

Look Out!

The Herald is still located in the southwest room of the City Hall

Do not miss us. Several have mentioned to us about getting into the office of the Socialist paper, thinking we had moved.

Look Out!

HON. ARTHUR L. OLIVER.

No doubt the gentleman now serving us in congress, when he offers himself for re-election, will find an opponent for the nomination among some of the stalwart young Democrats of this district. We believe Hon. Arthur L. Oliver of Caruthersville should be induced to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for congress from this district. The Major is what is known as a "Fighting Democrat," and was never known to stand still when there was anything he could do for his party. We do not know whether Mr. Oliver has ever cherished any aspiration to go to congress, but whether he has or not, his hosts of friends throughout the State of Missouri would like to see him get in the race next year, because this office is one of vital importance to the entire state.

In rounding out its fifth year in Hayti, the Herald has lived longer than any other paper was ever permitted to live in Hayti. In 1900 Babe Little was starved out and had to leave. We revived the paper, and in turn business was made so unpleasant we quit. This was the same year. Later, in 1901, our brother revived the paper, only to meet with the same fate. In 1907 Amos Huffman went down before his enemies, making the fourth time that a newspaper was actually killed—starved or driven out by home people. For this reason, when the fight was started by the remnant of the same old gang to put the Hayti Herald out of business we concluded that a good stand was better than a bad run, so we bristled up, curved our spine, and waded in to win, and we are free to predict that it will be a great many years before another fight will be started against the Herald. Don't you think we were right?

MISS GREENWELL DEAD.

Miss Behlah Greenwell, 15 years and 11 months old, daughter of F. J. Greenwell and wife of the Carleton neighborhood, died Thursday, October 23, at 4:15 p. m. Funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church, this city, Saturday morning at ten o'clock, after which interment was made in Little Prairie cemetery. This young lady, just on the brink where youth unfolds into womanhood, has thus been taken from a loving home, from the presence of fond parents, brothers and sister, who cannot understand why they should be called upon to drink of this bitter cup; but the Allwise Creator chooses the fairest flowers to transplant in His kingdom, and although we are sometimes sadly bereft, we should feel this consolation: "He doeth all things well."—Caruthersville Democrat.

It might be well to inform some people that there are very stringent laws against spreading contagious diseases, and that even the ordinances of the city of Hayti prescribe a heavy penalty for such an offense. Just at present mumps are getting started in Hayti, and a little vigorous action on the part of the school board and teachers and the board of health might stamp it out.

Mrs. Lawrence Marshal and two children of Chieck, Kansas, are here on a visit to her brother, Dr. J. M. Phipps and family. She is Dr. Phipps' baby sister, and of course her visit is a pleasant one. She has many acquaintances in this county.

Ernest Baldwin of Kennett came over on Sunday of last week to visit the family of Dr. F. A. Mayes, and his two little daughters, Gladys and Mary Emma accompanied him home.

Some of the muddy crossings were remedied last week. Now the thing to do is to get busy in good weather and place them in a condition to be good in bad weather. It is too late to do such work in bad weather. Good weather is the time.

Jake Williams of Dry Bayou was in this city Tuesday.
